

Washington Baltimore Center for Psychoanalysis

Book Talk

Friday November 17, 2017

7:00 – 9:00 pm

The George Washington Mt. Vernon Campus

2100 Foxhall Road, West Hall B-108

Washington DC 20007

Please join us in celebration of two of our own distinguished authors,
Sandra Hershberg, MD, and John S. Kafka, MS, MD

Psychoanalytic Theory, Research, and Clinical Practice: Reading Joseph D. Lichtenberg – co-edited by Sandra Hershberg, MD

“The intent of this book is to celebrate and gain insight into the life and work of a creative psychoanalyst--an esteemed colleague, teacher and contributor to our field, through biographical, psychoanalytic and oral history lenses. The collaborative process of creating and assembling this volume, the evolving narrative structure, the influence of death and memorialization, and the relationships amongst the subject and authors provide fertile areas for discussion.”

Psychoanalysis: Unveiling the Past – Discovering the New—Selected Writings of John S. Kafka, MS, MD

“Some new papers and selected papers about psychoanalytic theory, practice, and applied psychoanalysis from Dr. Kafka’s career. An introductory talk will focus on how lessons learned from the treatment of patients with severe psychopathology can deepen the psychoanalysis of neurotic patients.”
